To Wheelwrights, Blacksmiths, Tanners, Harness-Makers, Saddlers, Hatters, &c.
BELIEVING as I do, that PROVIDENCE, at Fairfax Court-House, would be a suitable situation for mechanics of the above description, I offer to such, lots in that village for sale, on ground rent for ever—will build and furnish suitable houses and rent to them, or furnish brick to them to build with; and invite any who feel disposed to settle there, for the purpose of carrying on their respective trades to advantage, to come and view the situation. It is a very public place, the centre of the county, where the superior and county courts are held. The Little River Turnpike Road passes through this little town from Alexandria westward, and where all the public meetings for the county, &c. are held; and where trades of the aforesaid description being carried on, would meet with great encouragement, and be a public convenience to the country around. No situation can be more healthy—good water, and fire wood cheap. Mechanics of the above description must generally depend on the country people, farmers, &c. to be their customers. Here they would be in a convenient situation for all the purposes. I invite a call, and view for themselves. I would also furnish lots adjacent, from one to five acres each, for cultivation, pasture, &c. on moderate terms; all of which can be shown, and terms made known, on application to RICH'D. RATCLIFFE, Fairfax Court-House, Va.

RAN away on the 26th of April, from the farm of the subscriber, in Dogue Neck, Fairfax Co. Virginia, negro HARRY, aged about twenty three years, about five feet ten inches high, very black, well built, has a considerable impediment in his speech, when spoken to evinces much confusion, and replies almost unintelligibly: had on when he left home, a much worn suit of domestic cloth. I have every reason to believe that he is endeavoring to pass for a free man, and as such went off in some of the bay craft during the late fishing season. All masters of vessels are forewarned from harboring or taking into their employ said negro, under penalty of having the law rigidly enforced against them. I will give twenty dollars, if taken in the county of Fairfax, or district of Columbia; if beyond that distance, the above reward, provided he is secured in jail so that I get him again. February 24

For Sale or Lease,

THE following tracts of land in Charles county, Maryland: one lying on the Potomac, at the mouth of Pomonkey creek, containing three hundred and forty acres, about 16 miles from Alexandria, the larger portion level land, of a stiff soil, well adapted to the cultivation of corn, wheat and tobacco, and equal in fertility to any in the neighborhood. On this farm is one of the most elegant sites for building of all those fine heights which border the Potomac, commanding the most extensive view of the adjacent country, both in Virginia and Maryland, for more than twenty miles up and down the river: located in a genteel neighborhood, it would make an agreeable residence, and from its proximity to market, with the advantage of the best navigation, an extremely profitable farm.—The tenant's houses would accommodate the negroes for its cultivation.
A Tract, about one mile back from the former, containing 334 acres, a large portion in wood, white and red oak, and some chesnut; the remainder a tenement in tolerable repair, the whole a high stiff soil, similar to the one above mentioned.
A Tract, lying at the mouth of Mattawoman Creek, about 25 miles from Alexandria, the whole first rate flat river land, now completely enclosed.—On this tract is a noted fishery, called Rum Point, at which there has been cleared upwards of two thousand dollars per annum, and where independent of the fish sold on the shore, there might be put up from one to two thousand barrels every season; besides the profits of the fishery, the advantage of manuring the farm with the offal of the shore, the whole, with a small portion of industry, might be made to produce ten barrels of corn per acre. On the shore, are a dwelling house, houses for holding salt, and curing any quantity of fish, and for the accommodation of hands.
A Tract, lying about 1½ miles from the last mentioned, containing 236 acres, more than 200 of which are in wood, and would cut from 25 to 30 cords per acre, within one mile of the river, where wood has rarely sold for less than five dollars per cord. It will be divided into 50 or 25 acre lots, to suit purchasers.—If preferred, the wood will be sold standing, for so much per acre.
If not disposed of, previous to the first day of Sept. next, the above mentioned arable lands, will be leased out, upon advantageous terms, for five or seven years, at the option of the lessees.
Application to be made to the subscriber, residing near the head of Mattawoman Creek, Charles county, Maryland.

A FRIEND OF THE CONSTITUTION.—NO. VII.

I proceed now to those doctrines, which, according to Hampden, "show the government to be, in the opinion of the court, a consolidated, and not a federal government."

"Differing from the court entirely," he says, "on this subject, he will give his own view of it."

We must, of course, suppose his view to be in proportion to that from which he differs.

In stating this difference, he tells us, "The constitution of the United States was not adopted by the people of the United States as one people, it was adopted by the several states," &c. And he then proceeds to show that the constitution was adopted by the people of the several states acting in separate conventions.

This is precisely what the court had previously said. It is to be recollected that the question discussed by the court, was, not whether the constitution was the act of the people in mass, or in states; but whether it was the act of the people, or of the state governments? In discussing this question, the court says, "The constitution was reported to the then existing congress of the United States, with a request that it might be submitted to a convention of delegates, chosen in each state by the people thereof, under the recommendation of its legislature, for their assent and ratification. This mode of proceeding was adopted."

Language, I think, cannot be more explicit than this; nor more entirely repugnant to the idea that the people acted in one body, and not by states.

Hampden also alleges in support of this plain perversion of the language and meaning of the court, the stress laid on the words "We, the people of the United States," in the preamble of the constitution.

The opinion cannot be inspected without perceiving that these words are not quoted, as "importing" in the constitution, "the people of America in exclusion of those of the several states," but as importing the people, in exclusion of their governments.

The court then has not denied, but has affirmed, that the constitution was adopted by the people acting as states.

Were it even otherwise, this error respecting the origin of the government, would not have proved it "to be in the opinion of the court, a consolidated, and not a federal government."

The character of a government depends on its constitution; not on its being adopted by the people acting in a single body, or in single bodies. The kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland is a consolidated kingdom. Yet it formerly consisted of three distinct kingdoms—England, Scotland, & Ireland; and this union was effected by their several parliaments, acting separately in each kingdom.

The convention of France, which was assembled in 1792, consisted of a single body elected by the people of the whole nation. Had the faction of the Gironde prevailed, and a federal republic been established, it would not have been the less a federal republic, because it was adopted by the representatives of the whole people, acting in mass.

If then the judges had made the assertion ascribed to them, they would have advanced a doctrine equally untrue and absurd, but not one which would "show that, in their opinion, our government is consolidated, and not federal."

The fact alleged then, and the conclusion drawn from it, are equally erroneous.

Hampden states many arguments which he supposes the court might urge in favor of consolidation, all of which he ingeniously refutes; but as the court has not itself urged one of these arguments, and has not, in the most distant manner, suggested a single idea in favor of consolidation, I shall be excused for passing them over without a comment.

I cannot, however, pass over, in like manner, his idea that the ligament which binds the states together, is "an alliance, or a league."

This is the point to which all his arguments tend. To establish this fundamental principle, an unnatural or restricted construction of the constitution is pressed upon us, and a fair exercise of the powers it confers, is reviled as an infraction of state rights. We need no longer be surprized at finding principles supported which would reduce the constitution to a dead letter, at the irritation excited by a course of reasoning which puts down those principles, at the effort to render the terms American people and national government, odious; at hearing that the supremacy of the whole within its sphere of action, over the parts is "jargon"; or at the exaggerated description of the power of the states to make amendments. All this is the necessary consequence of the doctrine that the constitution is not a national government, but a league, or a contract of alliance between the states, sovereign and independent.

But our constitution is not a league. It is a government; and has all the constituent parts of a government. It has established legislative, executive, and judicial departments, all of which act directly on the people, not through the medium of the state governments.

The confederation was, essentially, a league; and congress was a corps of ambassadors, to be recalled at the will of their masters. This corps could do nothing but declare war or make peace. They could neither carry on a war nor execute the articles of peace. They had a right to propose certain things to their sovereigns, and to require a compliance with their resolution; but they could, by their own power, execute nothing. A government, on the contrary, carries its resolutions into execution by its own means, and ours is a government. Who ever heard of sovereigns in league with each other, whose agents assembled in congress, were authorized to levy or collect taxes on their people, to shut up and open ports at will, or to make any laws and carry them into execution? Who ever heard of sovereigns taking the oath of fidelity to their agents? Who ever heard of sovereigns in league with each other, stripping themselves of all the important attributes of sovereignty, and transferring those attributes to their ambassadors?

The people of the United States have certainly a right, if they choose to exercise it, to reduce their government to a league. But let them act understandingly. Let them not be impelled to destroy the constitution, under the pretext of defending state rights from invasion. Let them, before they proceed too far in the course they are invited to take, look back to that awful and instructive period of our history which preceded the adoption of our constitution. These states were then truly sovereign, and were bound together only by a league. Examine with attention, for the subject deserves all your attention, the consequences of such a system. They are truly depicted in the Federalist, especially in the 15th No. of that work. The author thus commences his catalogue of the ills it had brought upon us.—"We may indeed, with propriety, be said to have reached almost the last stage of national humiliation. There is scarcely any thing that can wound the pride, or degrade the character, of an independent people, which we do not experience." And he concludes his long and dark detail of those ills with saying,—"To shorten an enumeration of particulars which can afford neither pleasure nor instruction, it may in general be demanded, what indication is there of national disorder, poverty, and insignificance, that could befal a community so peculiarly blessed with natural advantages as we are, which does not form a part of the dark catalogue of our public misfortunes."

Such was the situation to which these states were brought, in four years of peace, by their league. To change it into an effective government, or to fall to pieces from the weight of its constituent parts, & the weakness of its cement, was the alternative presented to the people of the United States. The wisdom and patriotism of our country chose the former. Let us not blindly and inconsiderately repunge into the difficulties from which that wisdom and that patriotism have extricated us.

A FRIEND OF THE CONSTITUTION.

A letter from a traveller, dated Sackett's Harbor, June 6th, states that the United States vessels on lake Ontario, which were in service during the late war, are fast going to decay. The New-Orleans, on the stocks, is enclosed in a building 230 feet in length, by 90 feet broad, and 90 feet high, and is stated to be in a good state of preservation.

Savannah, June 29.

We understand that the fifty dollar counterfeit bills on the Marine and Fire Insurance Company of this city, have again been put into circulation by some of the gang of villains infesting this state. As there is not more than ten bills of that denomination now afloat, it would be more safe for those persons in the interior of the state to refuse them, and when presented to any person in the city, let them be taken to the office, in order to ascertain their genuine character. [Georgian.

WM. A. BRADLEY, esq. is appointed cashier of the bank of Washington, in the place of SAMUEL ELLIOT, esq. resigned.

Charleston, June 1.

CORONER'S REPORT.

An inquest was held yesterday morning on the body of a mariner, named Michael Gordon, about forty-five years of age, a native of Ireland. The jury gave a verdict that he came to his death through the visitation of God, by a violent cramp in the stomach. This is the man who was picked up in an open boat off Tybee, by capt. Stafford, of the schooner Sally.

From the Balt. Morning Chron. July 6.

GLEANINGS—FOREIGN & DOMESTIC.

The latest accounts from England have given us an outline of the debate on the petition of the Romon Catholics of Ireland In the house of commons, they met with a most flattering reception, so much indeed, as to warrant an augury of their eventual success. On a division of the question, the ministerial majority against the motion amounted only to two. But these flattering prospects were suddenly darkened by the very hostile aspect which was manifested in the house of Peers, for on a division, the majority against the motion amounted to forty-one. The bishop of Worcester was warm in opposition to the claims of the Roman Catholics—the bishop of Norwich as zealous on the other side of the question. Lord Grey in favor of the motion, warned their lordships of the danger of making matters of religious opinion, the subjects of human legislation. He cited the example of the United States, as affording a luminous and beautiful contrast to that of the government of England. To those of our fellow citizens who are disposed to undervalue our free republican institutions, who are prone to despond under temporary difficulties and embarrasments, we would proudly say, turn you eyes to Europe!—Shall it be said foreigners only—jealous & rival foreigners, are sensible of those advantages, that Americans do not know how properly to estimate themselves! Are we to be put to pupillage under Englishmen before we can be sensible of the blessings that we realize and enjoy? It produces a strange confusion in the mind, to behold the Duke of Wellington's name enrolled amongst the number of those who opposed the claims of the Roman Catholics. When we recollect what essential services have been rendered by this nobleman for the establishment of the papal power, both in Spain, in Portugal, and in France, to whom more than to any man of the present day, the Pope is indebted for the re-establishment of his power and authority in Europe; it may excite some surprise that he should be so hostile to the claims of his own countrymen, the Roman Catholics of Ireland. Wellesley, the brother of the Duke, has been hostile to the Catholics, at the very time that the Duke was so successfully engaged in fighting the battles of the Spanish Roman Catholics.——This circumstance gave birth to the following pasquinade, from the pen of an English Poet—

"How Wellington fights, and how argues his brother!
For Papists, the one, against Papists the other,"

It seems that our countryman, captain Simmes, has been transmitting memorials to Europe, on the subject of his intended jaunt to the north pole, which as we understand, for we have not paid particular attention to his reveries, he has pledged himself to find hollow on his arrival; we must confess, without daring to mingle in such deep questions of polar and of subterranean philosophy, that this pledge would have come with better grace from the adventurer after his return from his journey. Dr. Mitchell seems disposed to lend the ponderous authority of his name in favor of such an enterprise.

"Who can resist such philosophic whims?
Or dare gainsay when Mitchell sanctions Symmes!"

Another meeting of the European confederates is talked about in the public papers; which it is said, the Prince Regent in all his splendor, proposes to honor with his presence.

The Attorney General has introduced a bill into Parliament, making it felony without benefit of clergy, for English subjects to enter into foreign service without the royal license. The introduction of this bill, may without any force of construction, be regarded as the opinion of the English ministry on this point. For a long time they have preserved a cold and sullen neutrality on this question; but it is said by an English paper, that the operation of this bill will go to deprive the Spanish patriots of nearly ten thousand men, who have without the royal license, enlisted in the revolutionary cause. We may therefore conjecture, that this bill introduced by the Attorney General, is only preliminary to a system of measures still more hostile to the patriots: for the first law officer of the crown never would introduce such a bill on his own personal responsibility. But, it may be said, what peculiar motive has England at the present moment to show hostility to the patriots of South America?—What this secret motive is, time must develope—it is a matter we conceive perfectly understood by the different courts; perhaps the cession of Cuba, or some great commercial monopoly. We have gained the Floridas without obtaining the consent of the English ministry, and it would be no wonder if they should obtain possession of Cuba, without our consent.

We have no news of a domestic nature, excepting the recent appearance of a comet. What the visit of this celebrated messenger imports, we are unable to say; we hope however it is not peculiarly ominous that he was seen in the firmament of Baltimore, for the first time, on the fourth of July.—He may without "fear of change (for aught we know) now rise to perplex not" monarchs, but banks.

Yesterday at noon-day we discerned, not indeed the comet, but if we may be allowed the expression, a newly manufactured star—to speak more plainly, several yards of book muslin from Mr. Miller's store, Market-street, was feloniously taken by the wind and carried to a surprising height in the atmosphere. It seemed to have as little connexion with gravity, as some of our bank notes have to precious metals—the rays of the sun shining direct on this thin and transparent drapery, presented the appearance of a beautiful star at noon-day, by which we, amongst others, were deceived at the first view. It rose with the buoyancy of a bank bill, and seemed far less inclinable to fall—some thought it a comet, some a kite, and some, O horror of horrors, deemed it the descent of a bank bill.

IMPORTANT LETTER.

Extract of a letter from a respectable American, dated Lima, March 9, 1819, received in this town.

"At this time lord Cochrane, with four ships, is blockading the Port of Callao, and you will see by his proclamation, (which surpasses in arrogance either the Berlin and Milan decrees or the orders in council) that all neutrals must leave Callao by the 9th. This mighty chief, harbors and protects all deserters, sends his boats among the neutrals to persuade their men to run away, and even robs them of their boats as well as men. Four men belonging to the Flying Fish, of Boston, took one of her boats, and went over to his ship. The next day captain Fitch went after his boat and men, both of which were refused him, and Cochrane would give him no satisfaction, not even so much as to speak to him. He has gone so far as to say, if the United States frigate Macedonian attempts to enter this port he will sink her! How soon this haughty Englishman has forgot the lessons which yankees teach those who attempt to infringe their rights! He made an attack with two of his ships on the vessels in Calloa, but was so warmly received that he sheared off without doing any damage to ships or men. It was generally expected that when the Chilian squadron should appear off Lima, that some disturbance would take place in that city, but quite the contrary was the case.

The government of Chili have eleven vessels of war to blockade eighteen hundred miles of sea coast, containing from thirty to forty harbors, more than twenty bays, and sixty roadsteads. Four of the eleven vessels are stationed off the port of Callao. Will the government of the United States admit of such a blockade as this?

Extract of a letter, dated, Lima, 8th day of March, 1819, received in Baltimore.

"I arrived in this city on the 8th ult. in the night, weary to death with fatigue, having travelled the last 180 leagues on mules, the Litera not suiting my natural vivacity. I will not attempt to give you now a description of the country I have gone through, because I have not time to do so. In few words I will only say that to the exception of few vallies that the traveller meets at distances from one another of 12 to 40 leagues, he sees nothing else in the world but barren sands, not one green bush nor a living animal to remind him of life—all is dead. Lima is situated at the entrance of one of these vallies, which are all indeed very fine. The city is large and well populated, the sight of women walking the streets with the Saya and Capo is a novelty, and also a singularity not to be met with any where else; at home they are exactly dressed as our belles, and the few I have as yet been acquainted with through my friend's attention are amiable and very curiosas with strangers: as I have much improved in the language, I enjoy much their society and do not find them destitute of wit.

"I was four days before I could get private lodgings; therefore 3 days ago only, I installed myself in these I now occupy.

"Lord Cochrane having under his command a Chillian Squadron of men of war consisting of two armed British East-Indiamen, the late Spanish frigate Isabella, one gun boat and a couple of light vessels, made his appearance off the port on the 28th ult. and on the 1st inst. proclaiming the Coast from Suayquil to Altacama, in a state of blockade; on the 3d the proclamation was intimated to the masters of the neutral vessels lying in the Roads, and as this is the last day specified for them to remain, they will all get under weigh to-morrow, hardly knowing where to go to, leaving behind them their property, making their case a very hard one indeed.

His lordship attacked the Spanish ships that were in port, on the 1st inst. but without effect, the engagement lasted about two hours and a half, having begun at half past 2 P. M. and ended at 5. Since, as before the appearance of this fleet, the public tranquility has not in the least been disturbed. Business, both public and private, is carried on as usual, and I do not observe the smallest concern about the present or future operations of the Chilian forces. I am told that Lord Cochrane has sent in a flag of truce proposing an exchange of prisoners, but that it has been rejected."

On Wednesday morning the 23d inst. a little after sunrise, four slight shocks of an Earthquake were felt by several persons in this village. [Geneva, (N. Y.) Gaz.

This situation would be particularly convenient for any person who follows the water, the Creek forming an excellent harbor, and the neighborhood being wealthy, constant freights might be got. The land is susceptible of great improvement, and is the very best wheat land in all the neighborhood. Public Sale.

ON THIS DAY, the 9th instant, at 12 o'clock of that day, by virtue of a deed of trust, we will sell at public auction, to the highest bidder, on the premises, that very valuable tract of land in Fairfax county, near Holmes's Run, and about four miles from Alexandria, generally known by the name of containing about 115 acres. This land is about one half in wood—the balance cleared, and in cultivation, with convenient buildings on it, and excellent water near them. A considerable proportion of the open land is fertile, and well calculated for timothy meadows.

The sum of $2,254 77 cts will be required to be paid in cash; for the residue a credit of twelve months will be given from the day of sale, the purchaser paying interest thereon, and giving satisfactory security for the punctual payment thereof. A conveyance will be made when the purchase money and interest is all paid up. If the terms of the sale should not be complied with by the purchaser, the premises will be immediately re-sold to the highest bidder, at the risque of the person to whom it shall have been struck off; and the same course will be repeated until an effectual sale shall have taken place.

R. I. TAYLOR,
JACOB HOFFMAN.

The owner is requested to come forward and prove property, pay charges and take him away, otherwise he will be disposed of as the law directs.

Most Valuable Landed Property for Sale.

BEING anxious to move to the south-western country, I am disposed to sell that most valuable and well known farm in Charles county, Maryland, called The Meadows, and a part of Westwood Manor.—This tract contains 930 acres, is most eligibly situated, lying in the fork of the two branches of the Wicomico river. As to fertility of soil, and advantages of every description, it is equalled but by few—surpassed by none.

Also, the farm on which I reside, called Somerset, in the County of King George, Virginia. This tract contains 676 acres, by late survey, and is also well situated, lying on the Potomac river, (opposite col. J. Taylor's Maryland Point testate) and bounded by the same upwards of a mile, is in a progressive state of improvement under the clover and plaster system, which has succeeded beyond my most sanguine expectations.

Also, two other small tracts in Westmoreland county, Va. containing 325 acres.

Also, 1140 acres of military land, in the state of Ohio.

As it is presumed that no person will (and as it is my desire that no one should) purchase without viewing the premises, I will not give a minute description of these tracts. Indisputable title will be made in every instance. Persons wishing to purchase, will please make application personally, or by letter addressed, to the subscriber, near Hampstead post office, Va.

JOHN HOPKINS

Hill and Dale, April 20.

Gunston for Sale.

THIS elegant estate is situated on the Potomac, 16 miles below Alexandria—it is bounded on three sides by the Potomac and Pohick creek, and coutains nearly 3,000 acres of land, level and fertile, to which are attached six shad and herring fisheries, two of which command the river channel. This land will be laid off in four tracts, so as to have one or more fisheries to each; these tracts will be again divided if requisite. This estate is level and beautifully situated, very fertile, and remarkably healthy. Plaister acts with an effect equal to that of any part of Virginia or Pennsylvania.—I have used 500 bushels in twelve months, and such is its beneficial operation, that were I to keep this land I should considerably increase the quantity A manufacturing mill is distant about two miles, on a stream navigable for vessels carrying 1200 bushels of wheat, where the Baltimore and Dist. of Columbia prices are given for grain; being bounded on 3 sides by water, a small extent only of fence is necessary to inclose the whole: it would be admirably adapted to grazing. The improvements are a large and very substantial brick mansion, 40 by 70 feet, with every necessary outhouse, three commodious barns, houses for Negroes, and fish houses at each of the fisheries. 120,000 bricks and 1000 bushels of lime are just burnt on the premises. There is a considerable extent of live fence, both useful and ornamental, two orchards of well selected apples and peach, besides an abundance of other choice fruit. More than 150 acres are in clover, 200 in corn, and land is in preparation for sowing 250 bushels of small grain. Any quantity of hay can be cut from the low grounds, some of which (and all might,) have been reclaimed at a trifling expense. The river and creeks, abound with wild fowl, particularly canvass backs, the woods with deer and a variety of other game. Mules, cattle, highly improved sheep, farming utensils and household furniture can be had. The terms of sale will be accommodating. Property in any of the cities, negroes, bank stock, western lands, or lands near the Ridge, will be taken in payment.—Letters must be addressed to me at Pohick Church, Fairfax county, Virginia.

S. Drew, Merchant Tailor,

Removed from Fairfax-street to the corner of King and Columbus streets, and his prices falling

RESPECTFULLY acquaints his customers and the citizens in general that he has removed as above, where he will study to give satisfaction. He has by him a small but well assorted stock of goods, which will be found on inspection to be of the best quality, the whole of which he wishes to sell low for cash, and as further inducements to purchasers he offers to cut out any goods, bought of him to any size or pattern gratis.

S. Drew aware, of the advantage a ready money business has over one where long credit is given, thinks that a distinction ought to be made in the prices in each case: and as the price of provisions are low at present, he is glad to be able to announce to those customers who will feel disposed to pay him ready money for his work, that he will reduce the price of making to them according to the present journeymen's wages; and to prevent any supposed imposition on the one hand or disatisfaction on the other he is willing to be goverued by the printed regulations of prices by which the journeymen are paid in Alexandria.

N. B. Bread, flour, beef, groceries, liquors or any thing valuable taken in exchange for clothes.

S. Drew has this day opened a tavern in the same house, where he has laid in a a supply of Philadelphia and the district porter and ale, together with liquors of the best quality, and he feels confident that he shall be able to give satisfaction to all who will please to favor him with a call.—He is fitting up his house for the accommodation of boarders, travellers, &c. and from its central situation, good beds and stabling, together with other requisites, he presumes that it will be found a convenient establishment.

100 Dollars Reward.

IS known to have been kidnapped from a field near Germantown, between the hours of 12 and 2 o'clock, on the 30th ult. whilst at work alone, a Free Black Man, named HENRY HUDSON, aged between 21 and 22 years, of the height of five feet five inches, very black complexion and dark eyes, has a scar under his left arm, between the wrist and elbow, occasioned by the cut of an axe.

He is by occupation a farmer, a native of Kent county, in the state of Delaware, had on a blue cloth roundabout jacket, old black silk vest, corded velvet pantaloons, and a wool hat.

He is a very civil, inoffensive man, with rather a down look. There is reason to suppose that he was decoyed into a carriage, and conveyed southward.

Any information respecting him will be thankfully received. Keepers of turnpike gates, toll bridges, and taverns, are particularly requested to give such information as may be in their power.

The above reward will be cheerfully paid on conviction of the perpetrators of his flagrant outrage upon the rights of a freeborn citizen of the United States.

PROSPECTUS

Of a new periodical work to be published in the city of Washington, entitled the Washington Theological REPERTORY.

EDITORS: Rev. Wm Hawley, Washington, Rev. Wm. H. Wilmer, Alexandria, Rev. Oliver Norris, Alexandria, Rev. Reuel Keith, Georgetown.

Assisted by several other literary gentlemen of the Protestant Episcopal Church.

IF any apology were necessary for this undertaking, it may be found in the fact, that there is no publication on a similar plan, in all that section of our country lying south of New-York, and but one in the whole of the United States. It has been matter of equal surprize and regret, that the Episcopal Church should be so far behind other Christian denominations, in similar efforts to disseminate the principles of religion and piety. At a period like the present, when the Lord is preparing his way on earth, by the most remarkable efforts of human agency, and the most wonderful operations of his providence and grace—when we perceive in every part of Christendom, a praise-worthy emulation to share in the glorious work of filling the earth with the knowledge of the only true God, and his Son Jesus Christ; it would seem criminal for any to withhold their exertions, however feeble, in the great enterprize of human happiness and salvation. The editors have, therefore, felt it their duty to make this humble effort to supply this acknowledged deficiency on the part of the church in this section of the country, and to bear their share in the common exertions of Christians to promote the Redeemer's Kingdom. And having obtained the services of a gentleman, in whose talents and principles they have confidence, whose time will be wholly devoted to the superintendence of the work, they feel encouraged to solicit the patronage of the public.

The publecation will be conducted under the immediate inspection and control of the above named editors, who will form a committee to review every article intended for publication. The principles upon which it will be conducted are those of the bible, as illustrated in the articles, Liturgy and Homilies of the Protestant Episcopal Church. As members of this church the editors will feel bound to support the Apostolical character of her institutions, the pious tendency of her rites and ceremonies, and the evangelical nature of her doctrines But in these, and all other discussions, they hope never to loose sight of that great law of charity which teaches us to "preserve the unity of the spirit in the bond of peace."

Acting upon those catholic principles, so long and so successively pursued by "The Christian Observer," their chief object will be to inculcate sound theological knowledge, and to delineate and recommend pure and vital religion. They trust therefore, that while the members of every Christian denomination may find something edifying and instructive, none will discover any just cause for offence in the pages of this work. General subjects of biblical criticism, practical illustrations of scriptural truth, the biography of illustrious persons, evidences of the truth of revelation, essays on the history and polity of the church, reviews of interesting publications, religious, literary and philosophical intelligence—in short, whatever is connected with the promotion of religion, humanity and literature, will find a place in this repository.

The testimony of experience supersedes the necessity of dwelling on the advantages of a periodical publication on the plan proposed. Its obvious tendency will be to render the various departments of religious knowledge more easy and accessible, and give a more ready currency and wider circulation, to those great truths which involve the present welfare and future destiny of man.

It will tend powerfully to stimulate the exertions of the editors, and console them under the difficulties attendant on the prosecution of this work, amidst many other avocations, should it prove the means under the blessing of God, of enriching any of its readers with the saving knowledge of Christ, and prepare them for a participation in the felicity and glory of his heavenly kingdom. With this hope they commit it into his hands, and confidently solicit their brethren of the clergy and laity to assist them in carrying into effect the objects of the undertaking.

TERMS OF THE WORK.

A volume of the Repertory shall consist of twelve numbers, of which one shall be published on the first day of every month, containing thirty-two large octavo pages, stitched in blue, and attended with a table of contents.

The paper used in the work shall be good, and the typography executed with the greatest care.

The price of a volume is two dollars, payable in advance; to such as omit the advance, two dollars and fifty cents.

It is designed to enlarge the size of the work, without increasing the price, as soon as one thousand subscribers shall be obtained.

Communications and remittances may be directed to any of the editors, post paid.

Any person becoming responsible for five subscribers, shall receive a sixth copy gratis.

The first number may be expected in the month of July. June 26
